Behind every well organized administrative office there is one person whose function is that of coordinator of all business which goes through that office. In Woburn High School that person is the secretary to the principal. His constant efforts on behalf of all school personnel and students are well known by all who have had business in that office. The seniors especially have benefited from his friendly assistance and extra work on our behalf. We know well the import of the old saying: "If you want something done, ask the busiest person you know to do it." That person has never been too busy to oblige us.

As a small measure of our gratitude for his assistance the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Sixty proudly dedicate this volume of the Innitou to JOHN P. MAHONEY

FOREWORD

As The Great Spirit, Manitou, looks with confidence toward the future, so we too look forward with the knowledge that we have been sufficiently prepared at Woburn High School for whatever the future holds.

Our preparation for life, reflected in all its phases in The Innitou to be recalled for us in years to come, has fostered a balance between work and leisure. During our years at Woburn High School, we have gained a deeper respect for our leaders, a more extended knowledge and greater use of our skills, and a deeper appreciation of human values.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

A Message to the Class of 1960:

Your Superintendent congratulates each of you on completion of your high school education.

When you registered for the tenth grade in September 1957 your graduation may have seemed to be in the distant future, but now it is here and the past three years have passed so quickly that you haven't had much time to really think of the future. In later life when you recall these three years at Woburn High School you will agree that they were the happiest days that you ever experienced.

Education in a democracy, however, must not stop with graduation. The acquiring of a diploma is not the end; it is just the beginning. It tells all mankind, and especially those people who are interested in your welfare, that you now have the preliminary background and skills to proceed to higher education, or to have a try at solving the many problems involved in employment.

Inclosing this brief message I want you to know that, although I have not had the opportunity to know each of you personally, you do have a special friend in the School Department Office. Your future success in college, business, or in the professions is one of my sincerest wishes. Please do not hesitate to call upon me if I can assist you in any way.

Dr. J. Frank Hassett
Superintendent of Schools

Miss McGowan helps Dr. Hassett check his schedule for the day.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Members of the Graduating Class of 1960:

The activities of Commencement Week in the colleges and secondary schools of our country are occasions when speakers and writers often are asked to convey a message to members of graduating classes. Traditionally, the advice so freely given is too often filled with platitudes and sophistries as unconvincing now as the day they were first proposed.

It is as though one were asked to convey in capsule form the wisdom of the ages to serve neophytes as a guiding beacon on the highway of life.

Yet, certainly, this eve of Graduation in June 1960 should be a time of deep and honest reflection. It is most important to you and to the society in which you live, how well you have matched your capabilities with the educational opportunities offered you in your high school career. If you have met this challenge, if you have learned to live well with your fellow man, and if you have learned the lesson of humility, your education has not been in vain.

For over one hundred years, it has always been the principal purpose of the Woburn High School to provide, in keeping with the demands of the changing eras, the best possible opportunities in secondary education for the youth who attend the school.

It is the sincere hope of the administration and staff that these opportunities have been seized to aid you in preparing for the uncertain but challenging future.

Janet Carbone	Secretary

We, the class of 1960, now look back on our pleasant and joyous times at Woburn High. Three years ago we entered our Sophomore year rather timidly but proudly, and during the short span of these three years we have known many eventful days. Our teachers, our classes, our friends, our good times, and our bad times; these things will be remembered for many years to come. Our senior year has been a series of exciting events; our athletic games, our dances, and our many school functions have all contributed to a most enjoyable year. We will look back on this last year at Woburn High School as a memorable milestone, for now we each must go our separate ways into the future.

APRIL

This delightful comedy deals with the experience of the McIntyres when their daughter decides to marry and their son falls in love. Throughout the play, Mother and Dad, now casually, now in great concern, discuss their youngsters' problems. The play, enlivened by frequent bits of humor, is a genuine study of the "inter-reactions" of parent and youngster. In the end, the problems are solved and the curtain closes on a happy ending.

Two hundred and ninety seven students of the Junior Class returned to their classes early in September. Eager to participate once more in school activities, they soon adapted themselves to the daily routine of school life. The highlight of the social activities was, of course, the Junior Prom, an event greatly enjoyed by all who attended.

CLASS OF 1962

On September 9, 1959, Woburn High School welcomed two hundred and eighty-three students as members of the Sophomore class. Under the direction of their advisers, Miss Murray and Mr. Skeffington, it was not too long before they became adjusted to the ways of living in a large high school. Their first attempt at planning a dance, the Snow Shu Shuffle, proved most successful.

Seated: Edward Doherty (president), Judith Kendrick (vice-president). Standing: Mr. Skeffington, (adviser), Janice Palmer (secretary), Joanne Addario (treasurer), Miss Murray (adviser).

CLASS POEM

REVELATION

In the building standing here,
The Sculptors toil;
Creating, forming, molding,
Not inanimate objects, but living personalities.

As Sculptors we know them not;
Friends, teachers, dedicated workers, yes;
But deft, dextrous, devoted hands, indeed,
Smooth the rough edges to perfection.

Slowly they labor,
One following another,
Year after year,
Each adding a mark of his own.

Distinguishable now:
Maturity, knowledge, understanding;
Fused with careful strokes,
Achieving epitome of form.

The day the Sculptors lay their tools aside,
Reluctantly, wistfully, yet hopefully,
Their work, ready for the unveiling,
Extends, row on row, cloaked in black raiment.

Now, the final moment;
The presentation of the work;
A voice calls out a name,
And the world sees!
Not a Sculptor and a statue,
But teacher and student.
The mediator leading the neophyte;
To the threshold of Life.

Tune: From the First Hello to the Last Good-bye

MEMORIES FAIR

From the first hello to the last good-bye
We've enjoyed a pleasant sojourn
Through the years at Woburn High
As we travel on toward our future goals
We'll have mem'ries fair to cherish and share
True friendship will remain
And the joys we've known we will long retain.

When in future years we must face a trial
We'll have learning we've acquired
To attend us all the while.
Though we've far to go on the road of life
The instruction strong we've gained all along
Will guide us on our way
'Till we reach that last graduation day.

Dan, Rachel, and Dotty seem to be enjoying Gary and Lee's duet.

THE INNITOU

Roberta adjusts the focus.

One of the hardest working groups of individuals in the school can be found after 1:30 in room 318 almost every day from September to June. Financial problems must be solved, deadlines must be met, errors must be corrected, and every article must be double-checked. This year's staff undertook a formidable task and made many changes in format.

Paul checks the final copy.

Our special thanks to . . .

TANNER NEWS

This year the Tanner News, under the leadership of Mr. Flaherty, presented something unique in high school journalism. The paper was circulated along with the Woburn Daily Times. In this way the staff hoped to bring the adults of the city into a closer contact and a better understanding of the life, interest, and activities of the high school student.

The student government of the school is now under the guidance of Miss Geraldine Soles. The Council first booked a number of assemblies for next year, and then turned its energy in other directions. Its success can be seen in the results of the "Tiger Rag," the Faculty Tea, and the Christmas food baskets.

BAND

Keep that banner straight girls!

The Woburn High Band always presents a beautiful demonstration, whether at assembly, on the football field, or in the many parades in which they are invited to march. Much credit goes to Mr. Kimball, who has produced a precision unit year after year. The band is one of the finer activities of the school and one of the most essential parts of student life.

The band plays at halftime.

Mr. White, in his first year as Head Coach, closed the season with triumph by copping the Northeastern Conference Championship which has not been here for five years. This team is undoubtedly one of the best Woburn has fielded for some time. Good sportsmanship was displayed both on the field and off the field.

FIELD HOCKEY

The girls prepare for a game.

The girls' sports in many high schools are neglected by the students, but at Woburn High they enjoy great participation. This is especially true of Field Hockey. This year, under the supervision of Miss Seminatore, the team seems to have started a winning type of playing and much is expected of them next year. The enthusiasm displayed by these girls has set a precedent to be followed by many teams to come.
